

Alexandria Gazette & Daily Advertiser.

PRINTED AND PUBLISHED BY SAMUEL SNOWDEN, ROYAL STREET, ALEXANDRIA.

VOL. XIX.]

THURSDAY MORNING, OCTOBER 23, 1818.

[No. 5365.]

American Citizen. His career of glory through life was unstained by crime; and his death was felt as a loss by every individual of that community, whose political existence was the fruit of his exertions.

THE FAREWELL ADDRESS of General Washington is the condensed result of long-experienced, matured reflection and strong anxiety for the permanent prosperity of his country. His advice concerning the great importance of maintaining indissolubly the federal Union; the danger of indulging too much in party feelings;—the necessity of supporting public credit at home;—of maintaining public faith in all our transactions with foreign nations; of encouraging foreign intercourse free from foreign attachments;—are so many lessons of prudence which we should do well to bear in constant remembrance. Why therefore should not his legacy of wisdom and affection, be so published, as to admit of being constantly before our eyes? An ornament to our apartments, while it serves as a memento to guide our public feelings, and to manifest that the author lives in our memories?

To make it such, is the aim of the proposed Edition. The Publishers are determined that the Address shall be printed on paper of the same quality and size as the splendid edition of the Declaration of Independence now engraving, & shall in all respects be a companion worthy that great State paper.

As errors are known from various causes to find their way into the most important writings, the publishers feel it their duty, not only to satisfy themselves, but to satisfy the public, of the authenticity of the copy from which this splendid Edition of the Farewell Address shall be published.

MR. GEORGE BRIDPORT will complete the Design; of which the following is an outline:—The introductory part of the Address, in highly finished ornamental penmanship, shall form the upper part;—the other parts of the plate, shall be appropriate ornaments;—in the centre below shall be engraved, from an historical design for this publication by Mr. Sully the Surrender of the British Army at Yorktown, October 19, 1781.

The Address itself shall be printed with type of a peculiar and a proper character, designed for this purpose by Mr. Fairman, and to be cut and cast by our best artists. No more of the type shall be cast than will be necessary to execute this Address; & when it shall be complicated, the type and the matrices in which it was cast shall be utterly destroyed; so that no other work shall ever be executed by the same letter which shall have printed the "FAREWELL ADDRESS" of him who lived and died, first in War; first in Peace, and first in the hearts of his Countrymen.

The paper, of the first quality, 36 by 26 inches, will be made by Mr. Amies. The ink shall be carefully prepared, and of the best materials. The signature of General Washington from which it is proposed to execute a fac simile for this publication, is that which he affixed to the Constitution of the United States, when he signed it as President of the Convention in which it was framed; Thus associating and concentrating some of the greatest events in the life of this great man and in the history of his Country.

The ornamental writing will be designed and executed in the very best manner; the ornamental parts of the design and vignette, will be engraved by G. FAIRMAN; and the Typographical part executed by John Binn. They will take especial care of the execution of their several duties in this respect, and they will call to their aid, all that liberality, zeal and industry can command from the Sciences and Arts, so as to make the "Farewell Address" no mean specimen of the state of the Fine Arts in the United States.

As much progress has already been made in designing and procuring materials for this splendid edition of Gen. Washington's "Farewell Address," it is expected it will be ready for delivery, with the Splendid Edition of the Declaration of Independence, in the month of December next. That the public may have a more perfect view of the design and style of execution, than can be given in a proposal, of this Tribute to the memory of him who was "a Conqueror for the Freedom of his Country! A Legislator for its Security! A magistrate for its Happiness," it is not intended to solicit any Subscriptions until the Ornamental parts of the plate shall be executed. It will then be submitted for public inspection and public patronage, at five dollars a Copy, payable on the delivery of the Engraving. Philadelphia, July 81.

Exchange & Broker's Office,
Georgetown, District of Columbia.
ROMULUS RIGGS.

At this office, next door below Crawford's tavern, Bridge-st. Georgetown, will exchange all kinds of Bank Notes on the most reasonable terms.—All persons who may have notes on the banks of North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia, would do well to call on him, as he is largely in the purchase of that kind of money, and will take it on the most reasonable terms.—Persons travelling to the Western Country may at all times get the Bank Notes of the Western Bank at a fair discount, by calling at his Office. For the information of all persons throughout the U. States, R. Riggs makes it known, that all of the Banks of the District of Columbia pay their notes on demand in specie; and it would be much to the advantage of the merchants, and trading to the South and west, to encourage the circulation of the Notes of the Banks of Georgetown, Washington and Alexandria, as it will at all times answer for remittances to the large commercial and Atlantic towns;—all persons emigrating or travelling to the westward should be very particular and take the Notes of the Banks of the District of Columbia, as they will find them the most current, there being no counterfeits on the District Banks.—The Merchants' Bank of Alexandria has long since failed—all persons should be on their guard, as they will be imposed on.

Jones's Point.
THE subscriber presents due respect to the gentlemen of Alexandria and its neighborhood, for their liberal encouragement since the commencement of his establishment, and solicits a continuance of their support, informing them that he commences, on Monday the 19th instant. Oyster suppers, which will be continued during the season, and for choice wines, liquors, and moderate charges, cannot be excelled. Those who have not visited his tavern, will, on trial, find his accommodation to surpass their expectations.
Gentlemen who wish to become subscribers for duck shooting this season, will please to forward their names to me, as the number is limited, and only a few are wanted to make up the subscription. No persons permitted to land on the point except his friends. There is a good carriage road, nearly completed, and a warm stable for horses.

Advertisement.
ABSCONDED from the subscriber's service, on Saturday night the 15th inst. Negro woman TRACEY or TRECAY—she is five feet two or three inches high, about 30 years of age, of a very dark complexion, and when particularly examined is very apt to confound herself.—It is deemed unnecessary to mention her clothing, as she has all of them with her, and being extremely artful, she no doubt will change them and endeavor to pass for a free woman. She is well acquainted in Charles county, Prince George's, Alexandria and the City, as about 5 years ago she made her escape, and was 6 or 7 months absent from the Lower Ferry, leading to Alexandria, and from thence to Washington City, where she acquired an extensive acquaintance among the Negroes belonging to John Brent, esq.; and the greater part of said Negroes belong now to William and Robert Brent, esqrs. and Mr. Dudley Diggs. Negro Treace has a scar on the back part of her neck, occasioned by a scorpion put for the benefit of her eyes, which are very weak at this time. I will give 10 dollars if taken in the county and secured in jail, or if out of the county and secured as aforesaid, so that I get her again.—25 dollars, and all reasonable charges paid if brought home. All persons are forewarned harboring or employing said Negro at their peril, as the law will be rigorously put in force against any offender.

FIFTY DOLLARS REWARD.
I WILL give the above reward for apprehending and lodging in any jail in the District of Columbia, a person by the name of JOHN POST, a Bricklayer and Stonemason, who has been at work for about two months past at Fort Washington, and was discharged on the 7th of September inst.—He says he was born in the state of New-York; is about 5 feet 9 or 10 inches high, and has sandy hair: he had with him an apprentice boy, nearly grown. A few days previous to his leaving Fort Washington he took the liberty of borrowing, in the name of Mr. John Cohen, from a lady at that place 10 dollars, which was not known till after he left it; and immediately after he was discharged and paid off, he forged two checks in the name of the Subscriber, on the Farmers' Bank of Alexandria, one of which he procured the money for at the Bank, and the other he passed in a person in Alexandria, which was detected and refused.—Previous to his coming to Fort Washington, he worked in the City of Washington, where he said he intended to work again; but it is probable he has not stopped so near the theatre of his villainy. Persons are cautioned against being imposed on by him.

ABSCONDED from the subscriber's service, on Saturday night the 15th inst. Negro woman TRACEY or TRECAY—she is five feet two or three inches high, about 30 years of age, of a very dark complexion, and when particularly examined is very apt to confound herself.—It is deemed unnecessary to mention her clothing, as she has all of them with her, and being extremely artful, she no doubt will change them and endeavor to pass for a free woman. She is well acquainted in Charles county, Prince George's, Alexandria and the City, as about 5 years ago she made her escape, and was 6 or 7 months absent from the Lower Ferry, leading to Alexandria, and from thence to Washington City, where she acquired an extensive acquaintance among the Negroes belonging to John Brent, esq.; and the greater part of said Negroes belong now to William and Robert Brent, esqrs. and Mr. Dudley Diggs. Negro Treace has a scar on the back part of her neck, occasioned by a scorpion put for the benefit of her eyes, which are very weak at this time. I will give 10 dollars if taken in the county and secured in jail, or if out of the county and secured as aforesaid, so that I get her again.—25 dollars, and all reasonable charges paid if brought home. All persons are forewarned harboring or employing said Negro at their peril, as the law will be rigorously put in force against any offender.

FIFTY DOLLARS REWARD.
I WILL give the above reward for apprehending and lodging in any jail in the District of Columbia, a person by the name of JOHN POST, a Bricklayer and Stonemason, who has been at work for about two months past at Fort Washington, and was discharged on the 7th of September inst.—He says he was born in the state of New-York; is about 5 feet 9 or 10 inches high, and has sandy hair: he had with him an apprentice boy, nearly grown. A few days previous to his leaving Fort Washington he took the liberty of borrowing, in the name of Mr. John Cohen, from a lady at that place 10 dollars, which was not known till after he left it; and immediately after he was discharged and paid off, he forged two checks in the name of the Subscriber, on the Farmers' Bank of Alexandria, one of which he procured the money for at the Bank, and the other he passed in a person in Alexandria, which was detected and refused.—Previous to his coming to Fort Washington, he worked in the City of Washington, where he said he intended to work again; but it is probable he has not stopped so near the theatre of his villainy. Persons are cautioned against being imposed on by him.

"WHAT'S CHARITY?"

'Tis not to pause, when at my door,
A shivering brother stands;
To ask the cause that made him poor,
Or why he help demands.

'Tis not to spurn that brother's prayer,
For faults he once has known;
'Tis not to leave him in despair,
And say that I have none.

The voice of CHARITY is kind—
She thinketh nothing wrong;
To every fault she seemeth blind,
Nor vaunteth with her tongue.

In PENITENCE she placeth FAITH—
Hope smileth at her door;
Believeth FIRST—then softly saith,
"Go, BROTHER, sin no more!"

Original Miscellany.

Haste thee, Nymph, and bring with thee
Just and youthful jollity,
Quips, and cranks, and wanton wiles,
Nods, and becks, and wreathed smiles,
Such as hang on Idiot's cheek,
And give to life in dimpled cheek,
Sport that wrinkled care derides,
And laughter holding both his sides,
Come, and trip it as you go,
On the light fantastic toe;
And in thy right hand lead with thee
The mountain Nymph, sweet Liberty;
And if I give thee honor due,
Mirth, admit me of thy crew;
To live with her, and live with thee,
In unreproved pleasures free.

Milton's L'Allegro.

Mirth is to the mind what exercise is to the body: without exercise the human frame would grow indolent, unwieldy and debilitated, and the whole system become a prey to languor and inactivity; and the mind in like manner, without occasional relaxations of mirth and cheerfulness, would grow languid and dejected, till at length, totally oppressed with the cares and attentions of life, and overwhelmed by "the thousand natural shocks that flesh is heir to," it would sink beneath them. On the contrary, mirth accelerates the slowly creeping blood, impels it with due velocity thro' the veins, gives new vigor to the tone of the nerves and promotes those secretions which are requisite to preserve the body in a proper state of health. Of course we generally see that persons of a cheerful disposition, whose spirits are prone to mirthful excitements, are much more active and vigorous than those of a saturnine habit.

But to make mirth conducive to the due temperature of either the body or the mind, it is necessary that her pleasures should be such as will bear reflection—"to live with her," as Milton says, "in unreproved pleasures free;" or in other words, that our hilarity shall be regulated by good sense, and accompanied by innocence; enlivened by wit, and conducted with decency; "the feast of reason," as well as "the flow of soul."

The noisy mirth arising from inebriation, can neither be productive of health of body nor of real elevation of spirits. Sickness, accompanied with unpleasant reflections, too often succeeds, and prevents all the beneficial consequences which result from a well regulated mirth.

The mind receives a similar derangement when the subjects of our mirth are ill chosen—low, illiberal raillery, or such criticisms and jests as promote discord, afford no satisfactory cheerfulness; nor, indeed, can the flashes of merriment proceeding from them be properly called mirth—Milton's "jest and youthful jollity," his "quips and cranks, and wanton wiles," his "sports, that wrinkled care derides," and his "laughter holding both his sides," must spring from unreproved sources, or they will not produce that happy hilarity he so beautifully describes in his L'Allegro.

But, not to be too grave, when mirth is the subject, let us take a view of the different gradations into which laughter, the inarticulate expression of mirth, is to be divided—these are, "the broad grin," "the hearty laugh," "the horse laugh," "the giggle," "the titter," and "the simper"—each of which is expressive, in some degree or other, of that levity of heart which is termed mirth.

The first of these, the broad grin, is impressed on the countenance when any thing surprises or astonishes, and at the same time tickles the fancy. It is generally used by the lower classes of society at humorous exhibitions; and is no where exhibited in a higher degree than in Great Britain, round the stage of a mountebank, or in our theatres, at a very loud, and at the same time nonsensical pantomime.—The phizzes of the spectators of such diversions being peculiarly adapted to transmit to this expression of the face.

The hearty laugh is chiefly used by your hearty souls, who, devoid of every care or perplexity, enjoy a jest, and enter into the spirit of a funny story, without finding any alloy to the enjoyment from delicacy of sentiment or the disapprobation of reason.—This species of laughter is the most salutary to the human frame, and best answers the purpose of keeping the body in due temperature.

The horse laugh, though it sometimes resembles the foregoing, is not, as that usually is, a proof of internal satisfaction, and of a heart at ease, but is generally used, both in private companies and public assemblies, to laugh down an opponent, in order to effect by this boisterous mode, what reason and argument might not be able to accomplish.

The giggle is a species of laughter peculiar to the younger part of the female sex, and is generally made use of, when any incident obtrudes itself that irritates the imagination; but which their youth, and the delicacy of sentiment supposed to be attendant upon youth, will not permit their noticing.

The titter is somewhat similar to the giggle, and, like that, most generally used by girls. It is a laugh which they smother in its birth, because the place or company present lays them under a restraint that is not then to be removed.

The simper is a contraction of the muscles of the face, somewhat more than a smile, yet scarcely amounting to a laugh; and which just shows that you are pleased with the attention paid you, or the incident that gives rise to it.

These are the different species into which laughter may be divided; and by these the different emotions of a heart disposed to mirth are expressed. A description of their various causes and effects would trespass too far on your columns.—Suffice it say that though persons who are of a morose or grave disposition, may censure the sallies of mirth and the explosions of laughter, and think the mind debased by every indulgence of them, yet mirth, subject to the foregoing restrictions, is not only an agreeable but a necessary mental relaxation, and all we have to do, while we indulge ourselves in the pleasing gratification, is to take care that we are, at the same time, merry and wise.

There seems something mysterious in the fact, (says the Albany Argus) that the attempts of our ministers to form a commercial treaty with the Netherlands and with France, have both failed. Does this result from the holy alliance? or is it the effect of British influence? We cannot believe that any new principle was sought to be interpolated on our part. We perceive that Mr. Gallatin has repaired to London with a view of attempting to form a commercial treaty with England. The result may indicate something of the temper of G. Britain towards this country.

A semi-weekly paper is about to be published at the new city of Blakely, to be called the "BLAKELY SUN AND ALABAMA ADVERTISER." The growth of this city is unparalleled in the annals of this country.

Travellers from the Alabama Territory, state that on the 20th ultimo a party of Indians, supposed to be between one hundred and fifty and two hundred in number, murdered a negro woman and two white children, within eight miles of the Black Warrior. The Indians were pursued and overtaken the next day by twelve white men. A skirmish ensued, in which two of the white men were killed, and one wounded, who has since died. The Indians have retreated to the Sissie Swamp, on the Tombigbee River, which is said to be almost impenetrable. These Indians it is supposed, have been in the neighborhood of Fort Dale and Cedar Creek, for several months past. [Millidgeville Reflector, Oct. 8.]

The Little Prince, (speaker of the nation) Gen. M'Intosh, Col. Kinnard, Major Lovett, and several other warriors of less note, held a council in this place on Saturday last, with the Agent for Indian Affairs relative to the internal concerns of the Creek country.

[Millidgeville Journal, Oct. 8.]

Much has been said with truth, of the great value to society of the Farmer and Mechanic. Let us now hear the Boston Gazette in favor of the Merchant.

"THE MERCHANT."

"What is the character of our Merchants? They are those who, with an impetuous, enterprising, and industry unequalled by any other class of society, risk their property to the fury of the whirlwind, and tempests of the ocean; who undaunted by desolating storms and sinking wrecks bring from every quarter of the globe its various treasures, to pour into the lap of our country, and when blest by success and prosperity, with no less profusion scatter their acquisitions in every direction. Look at our societies, religious, civil or literary, and see if they are not the most liberal donors.—Look at subscriptions for the relief of indigence and distress, and there are their names leading the list—while they are never known to extend the hard earned pittance of the widow or orphan, under the guise of a fee or a recompense.—They are the life blood of our nation—and on every subject of practical importance, possess requisite information."

From the New-York Commercial Advertiser HAMILTON'S TRIAL.

The Albany Register contains a report of the trial of James Hamilton, for the murder of Major Birdsell, which took place in Albany at the present October term, before his honor Judge Spencer and Justices Howe and Haring. D. L. Van Antwerp and M. Van Buren were counsel for the prosecution, and Elisha Williams and Calvin Pepper, counsel for the prisoner. The cause was opened by Mr. Van Antwerp. He stated that the fact of the crime would be so conclusively established by testimony that he would not occupy the court in explanation or probability. The witnesses were then called, who testified to having seen Hamilton shoot Major Birdsell. Mr. Pepper commenced the defence of Hamilton, and endeavored to convince the court and jury that this was a case of manslaughter. "He insisted that as the rifle was a weapon of ordinary and every day use, however deadly in its character, must be regarded in the same light as an assaulting club or cudgel." He was followed by Elisha Williams, esq. who displayed in behalf of the prisoner, his usual erudition and force of argument. "He inferred from the uniformly mild and affable deportment of the generous Birdsell towards the prisoner, that there must necessarily have been absence of all malice," and attributed the prisoner's fall, immediately on the rifle's going off, to his astonishment that it had been loaded—that the deceased having before indulged Hamilton with familiarities, the act of presenting his rifle could only be considered a repetition of granted or implied liberties for some trifling object, and not an attempt to kill.

Mr. Van Buren, in behalf of the prosecution, considered the guilt of the prisoner so clear that he would not detain the court but a few moments. "Mr. V. B. insisted that no one circumstance in the testimony favored the prisoner's plea of non intention to murder; but on the contrary every thing went to confirm the fact of premeditated, deliberate assassination." He closed by informing the jury, that they would be told by the court what were the discriminating features of the law in cases of murder and manslaughter.

"His honor judge Spencer gave the jury a learned, succinct and dignified charge.—He examined the testimony with a penetrating accuracy; expounded the law with a clearness which made it comprehensible to almost every capacity. He said that as the prisoner had rested his defence on the plea of not knowing the rifle was loaded, and as the rifle was under his charge and in his possession, it became necessary for him to account for its being actually loaded, or to shew that it was not so loaded at any short time previous to its discharge.—In summing up the testimony, the judge did not find any circumstances which did not go to prove the prisoner guilty of premeditated murder. He charged the jury, if they believed the testimony conclusive, by their duty to society, their duty to their conscience, and their duty to Heaven, to find the prisoner guilty. The judge observed that, however painful, if the prisoner be guilty, it was their imperious duty to punish him. It was the law of man, and it was the law of Heaven, that "whosoever sheddeth man's blood, by man shall his blood be shed." In the course of the charge, and while dwelling with much pathos upon the painfulness of consigning a fellow creature to death, judge Spencer declared with emphasis, that "a wicked man in the administration of justice, is as great a curse to the community as a wicked or corrupt man."

In this charge the court discovered an intimate and studied acquaintance with human nature, a correct and dignified sense of the claims of humanity and learned research in the science of the law, which amply confirmed the abilities which have been ascribed to its practice and decisions. The court spoke in approbation of the clear, distinct, and responsible testimony of Lieut. Scott, and other witnesses. In consequence of the universal interest which the case excited, the trial took place in the Assembly Room, which, on opening the doors, was immediately crowded to overflowing. The trial commenced about fifteen minutes past ten A. M. and the jury retired a few minutes past two P. M. returning in about twenty minutes with a verdict of "guilty of murder."

The prisoner appeared in court cleanly and decently dressed, in light vest and pantaloons, and blue sailor jacket. He appeared composed previous to the commencing of his trial, and spoke carelessly to the officers who attended him. He regarded the jurors as they were called with considerable interest, and acquiesced to their being qualified, in an amiable and easy manner.—He observed his counsel when speaking with an air of confident solicitude, and he had a look of stern defiance upon the opposite counsel and the witnesses, particularly Lieut. Scott, on whom he riveted a malignant glance, which rested upon him while speaking, and invariably followed him to his seat.

During the charge of the court, the prisoner's confidence appeared to weaken and his eye recoiled from the Judge, and wandered round the room without any apparent observation. He seemed calm and thoughtful while the jury were out, but when their return was announced, which created a general move among the audience, the prisoner evidently betrayed feelings of uneasiness and fearful anxiety.—The verdict did not appear to shake him immediately; within a few moments, however, a slight change of color was perceptible, but his manner was silently thoughtful, without any appearance of confusion or wildness. He walked firmly out of court, insensibly rather than otherwise, chewing tobacco, which he had to his mouth during the whole of the trial.

It was highly consoling to the spectators, to see the character and memory of their lamented Birdsell, spoken of by the court and by all the counsel, in the warmest terms of admiration.

POLITICAL RELATIONS OF PERSIA. It is asserted in England, that the Cabinet of St. Petersburg demands the Araxes as a frontier, and to insist that all Persian Ports in those waters shall be ceded to Russia. This extension of territory would comprehend the whole south east of Armenia, and bring the frontier line in one place, to within about fifty (German) miles of Tiflenz, whereas, the Russians have at present no possessions on the south of the Kur, or Cyrus; but a good road for Caravans is already open to them on the north of the Caspian sea, to Bouchara. The well calculated advances of the Russians excite the continually increasing jealousy of the British Cabinet, and the expectation of an approaching breach between Russia and Persia, might easily have a great influence on the relations of that Empire with England. Rhuem Khan Uzbeq is encamped with 16,000 men on the banks of the Georgian or Koorgan, and as soon as he has completed his negotiations, about the hostages to be delivered to him by the Turcoman tribe, it is expected he will advance against Khorasau. The loss of the fortress of Aserabad, on the Caspian sea, which was considered in some respect as a palladium of the Empire, is very sensibly felt at the Persian Court. The Persian monarch has just taken measures respecting the politically important Island of Bahrien, in the province of Outan, which show his apprehensions of its being occupied by "infidels." This Island is one of the finest in the Persian Gulf or near to the Arabian Coast, and covered with villages and plantations of dates. The town of Medina, which, together with the fort contains 900 houses, carries on a great trade with Bussora and other ports in the Gulf. The port of Medina is accessible to ships not exceeding two hundred tons burthen, and with a good wind they can sail in 14 hours from Bussora to Bahrien. Near the Island is a bank where the finest pearls in the world are fished. They are found in small shells fastened to the bottom of the sea by a thin and very long thread which the divers cut off. The King of Persia has strongly recommended to the Arab Sheiks and the men of Muscat, not to allow the occupation of the Island of Bahrien by the infidels, and promises powerfully to support the measures they may adopt for the purpose. A division of the Persian army has lately besieged Herat, or Herant, the capital of south Rhodasan. The Governor of the city, Schah Za-tu Feerozaden, has applied for aid to his father, Schah Mah-mud, upon which the Vizier, Tuti Khan, received orders to advance with a strong corps by way of Candahar to the relief of Herat, and he will be joined by another corps under Schah Zadu Komene.

Western Hotel, Howard-st. Baltimore. We do not think it amongst the least useful information we may furnish to our subscribers in the district, particularly at this "travelling" season of the year, to inform those who may have occasion to visit Baltimore, on business or pleasure, that our late fellow citizen of this place, Mr. Daniel M'Keown, keeps a most excellent inn in Howard-street, called the Western Hotel, where every essential accommodation for comfort or convenience may be had at a reasonable rate. Residents of this city, who have passed a few days at his house, speak in the highest terms of satisfaction of the attention and good treatment they met with. This is published without the knowledge of the proprietor of the establishment, and only from a wish to render industry and enterprise its due.

[Washington City Gazette.]

THE SEASON. The source of light now sheds his sweetest beams. How mild and glad the season! And how delightful are the scenes around! The splendid and "beauteous waste of blossoms," which, to the "primal season," delighted the eye and sweetened the heart with joy, has indeed disappeared. But have not more alluring charms—more "ripe and mellowed beauty" succeeded? The flower is fallen, but the fruit swells and matures on every twig. The downy peach, the polished plum, the luscious pear, the pleasant apple, varied in hue and flavor, present a pleasing theme of joy and praise. How rich the supply of wholesome dainties! O ye pensioners of the divine bounty! "crown the great hymn, and praise the God of seasons as they roll!"

LORD ROSS.—The reprobate Lord Ross being on his death bed, was desired by his chaplain to call on God. "I will," said he, "if I go that way, but I do not think I shall."

THE MARCH OF MARTI TREE. This tree yields to none in point of utility. It grows copiously in New Spain, and affords water, wine, oil, vinegar, honey, syrup, thread, needles, &c. The inhabitants plant more or less of them next to every house: it grows as well in the fields, provided it has proper attendance and care. It has broad and thick leaves, with sharp points, which serves for needles; and the points turn off, there follows out of the leaf, a tough kind of hair fit for sewing. The branch is cut off when still young and tender, and a cavity being left in the tree, a liquor runs out like water, fresh and sweet, it boiled it acquires the quality of wine; in length of time, turns to vinegar, and is continued longer boiling, and strained, resembles honey; but if only half boiled, it is not unlike a syrup. In short there are 19 several services which this tree, though small, yields to the inhabitants. The leaves serve for covering their houses, and a fine yarn may be spun out of them for vestments. Out of its roots strong and thick ropes are made, and it is further remarkable, that each plant, though small (being cut off very young) produces at least 50 barrels of liquor, each containing two Spanish arrobes.

The following circumstance deserves mention, however incredible it may appear.—Mr. Agricola, of Goliniz, in Altenburg, has in his garden an apple tree, which, in the year 1816, bore 268 sorts of apples and other fruits; in fact, the tree has on it above 300 sorts, but those last grafted have not yet borne. This gentleman has effected this curiosity for his amusement by inoculating and grafting, and has fastened to every branch a little board with the name of the sort of apples it bears. The tree has a strange appearance, from the various shapes and colours of the leaves, blossoms and fruits. Some years ago, the Russians bivouacked near this tree, and were so surprised at the strange shape of it, and the number of little boards, that they did not injure it, though they cut down other fruit trees for firewood.

[Amsterdam Courant.]

Among the vegetable wonders of the year, we hear that of a grape vine, in Worcester county, measuring 35 inches in circumference at 11 feet from the ground, with branches proportionably large. In Pennsylvania, a melon has been raised, measuring 56 1-2 inches in length, and 38 1/2 inches in circumference.—In Delaware, a corn-stalk was growing the 26th of Sept. which then measured 17 feet 6 inches in height. Best of all—there have been two crops in Maine, the present year. A Mr. Thompson, of Hallowell, gathered a crop of peas this season, threshed them, sowed some of them again on the same ground, and a good second crop has been produced. [Boston Centinel.]

Henry Austin, Esq. has imported at New York from Asia, several young palm trees, of the species which furnishes that excellent fruit, the date; and seeds of the Asiatic oak, a very durable timber. It is expected that trees will flourish in the states south of North-Carolina.

The Washington arrived at 2 P. M.—Nothing bound up. As the Steam boat was proceeding down last night, against a strong wind and tide, near Fort Washington, a wood vessel bound up, with flowing sheets and free wind, ran into the Steam-boat and did her considerable damage—but the most injury was received by the wood vessel, for shortly after, she was seen to be in a sinking condition—and to-day the steam boat on her way up, discovered her to be nearly under water, just above the fort.—At the time of this accident, the Captain of the Steam-Boat offered his services but they were not accepted.

NATURAL HISTORY.

THE MACEY OR MARY TREE.

This tree yields to none in point of utility. It grows copiously in New Spain, and affords water, wine, oil, vinegar, honey, syrup, thread, needles, &c. The inhabitants plant more or less of them next to every house. It grows as well in the fields, provided it has proper attendance and care. It has broad and thick leaves, with sharp points, which serves for needles; and the points turn off, there follows out of the leaf, a tough kind of hair fit for sewing. The branch is cut off when still young and tender, and a cavity being left in the tree, a liquor runs out like water, fresh and sweet, it boiled it acquires the quality of wine; in length of time, turns to vinegar, and if continued longer boiling, and strained, resembles honey; but if only half boiled, it is not unlike a syrup. In short there are 19 several services which this tree, though small, yields to the inhabitants. The leaves serve for covering their houses, and a fine yarn may be spun out of them for vestments. Out of its roots strong and thick ropes are made, and it is further remarkable, that each plant, though small (being cut off very young) produces at least 500 barrels of liquor, each containing 20 Spanish arrobes.

The following circumstance deserves mention, however incredible it may appear. Mr. Agricola, of Goltz, in Altenburg, has in his garden an apple tree, which, in the year 1816, bore 266 sorts of apples and other fruits; in fact, the tree has on it above 300 sorts, but those last grafted have not yet borne. This gentleman has effected this curiosity for his amusement by inoculating and grafting, and has fastened to every branch a little board with the name of the sort of apples it bears. The tree has a strange appearance, from the various shapes and colours of the leaves, blossoms and fruits. Some years ago, the Russians bivouacked near this tree, and were so surprised at the strange shape of it, and the number of little boards, that they did not figure it, though they cut down other fruit trees for firewood.

[Amsterdam Courant.]

Among the vegetable wonders of the year, we hear that of grape vine, in Worcester county, measuring 35 inches in circumference, at 11 feet from the ground, with branches proportionably large. In Pennsylvania, a melon has been raised, measuring 56 1-2 inches in length, and 39 1-2 inches in circumference. In Delaware, a corn-stalk was growing the 26th of Sept. which then measured 17 feet 6 inches in height. Best of all—there have been two crops in Maine, the present year. A Mr. Thompson, of Hallowell, gathered a crop of peas this season, threshed them, sowed some of them again on the same ground, and a good second crop has been produced.

[Boston Centinel.]

Henry Austin, Esq. has imported at New York from Asia, several young palm trees, of the species which furnishes that excellent fruit, the date; and seeds of the Asiatic oak, a very durable timber. It is expected that trees will flourish in the states south of North-Carolina.

Steam Boat Report.

The Washington arrived at 2 P. M.—Nothing bound up. As the Steam boat was proceeding down last night, against a strong wind and tide, near Fort Washington, a wood vessel bound up, with flowing sheets and free wind, ran into the Steam-boat, and did her considerable damage—but the most injury was received by the wood vessel, for shortly after, she was seen to be in a sinking condition—and to-day the steam boat on her way up, discovered her to be nearly under water, just above the fort. At the time of this accident, the Captain of the Steam-Boat offered his services but they were not accepted.

Gunston for Sale.
THIS elegant estate is situated on the Potomac, 16 miles below Alexandria
—it is bounded on three sides by the Potomac and Potomac creek, and contains nearly 3,000 acres of land, level and fertile, to which are attached six shades and herring fisheries, two of which command the river channel. This land will be laid off in four tracts, so as to have one or more fisheries to each; these tracts will be again divided if requisite. This estate is level and beautifully situated, very fertile, and remarkably healthy. Plaster sold with an effect equal to that of any part of Virginia or Pennsylvania.—I have used 500 bushels in twelve months, and such is its beneficial operation, that were I to keep this land I could considerably increase the quantity.
A manufacturing mill is distant about two miles, on a stream navigable for vessels carrying 1200 bushels of wheat, where the Baltimore and Dist. of Columbia prices are given for grain; being bounded on 3 sides by water, a small extent only of fence is necessary to inclose the whole; it would be admirably adapted to grazing. The improvements are a large and very substantial brick mansion, 40 by 70 feet, with every necessary outhouse, three commodious barns, houses for Negroes, and fish houses at each of the fisheries. 120,000 bricks and 1000 bushels of lime are just burnt on the premises. There is a considerable extent of live fence, both useful and ornamental, two orchards of well selected apples and peach-trees, an abundance of other choice fruit.
More than 150 acres are in clover, 200 in corn, and land is in preparation for sowing 250 bushels of small grain. Any quantity of hay can be cut from the low grounds, some of which (and all might) have been reclaimed at a trifling expense. The river and creeks, abound with wild fowl, particularly canvas backs, the woods with deer and a variety of other game. Mules, cattle, highly improved sheep, farming utensils and household furniture can be had.
The terms of sale will be accommodating.
Property in any of the cities, negroes, bank stock, western lands, or lands near the Ridge, will be taken in payment.—Letters must be addressed to me at Pohick Church, Fairfax county, Virginia.
September 4. GEORGE MASON.

Valuable Property for Sale.
THE subscriber is desirous of selling a handsomely situated farm, on Hunting creek, in Fairfax county Virginia, adjoining the Mount Vernon estate and the lands of general Thomson Mason, four miles from Alexandria, containing about 240 acres, 80
of which are in wood—40 to 50 in thriving meadow of clover and timothy—a part of the residue recently seeded with wheat and rye, and clover, last spring—the whole enclosed with a new post and rail fence.
The improvements are, a comfortable and convenient frame dwelling house
and kitchen, smoke house, poultry house, granary and stables.—There is on this place a rich and productive garden, and a large body of marsh meadow, from which may be saved annually 100 tons of hay, nearly as nutritious as the best timothy or clover.—With the farm would be sold a number of very valuable horses, cows and sheep; waggon, carts, and a variety of farming utensils and household
and kitchen furniture; corn, oats and rye, and 40 tons hay. Also, adjoining the one above described, a farm containing 160 acres, recently enclosed, on which is a brick house, which a trifling expense would render comfortable.
The soil is excellent, and a considerable part might be easily converted into meadow.—It would be sold with the other or separately. Also, a number of valuable servants, male and female.—To prevent unnecessary application, he would observe, that they will only be sold to persons residing in the District or its vicinity, and not to be carried from it. The subscriber will also sell the greater part of his household furniture, which is new and handsome. For terms of all or any part of the above property, apply to NOBLET HER-BERT, esq. or
FRANCIS ADAMS, Jr.

Valuable Land for Sale.
HAVING more land in the tract on which I reside than I can farm to advantage, I will expose to public sale, on the 5th day of NOVEMBER next, if fair, if not the next fair day, eight hundred acres,
divided into lots of two hundred acres;
each lot has seventy acres in wood—of the cleared land one hundred and fifty acres are in clover, and two hundred in rye and wheat. This land is situated ten miles below Alexandria, and is bounded north and east by Accotink creek, which separates the lower part of it from Jonathan Janney's mill, where the Alexandria price can be had for grain.—It is as fertile as any land in the county, and as susceptible of improvement, by clover and plaster, as any I have seen. Persons wishing to view it will call on the subscriber, living at Cedar Grove, one mile below Janney's mill.
The terms will be one-third of the purchase money in hand, and the balance in two equal annual payments.—The sale will take place at 12 o'clock, on the premises.

Valuable Property for Sale.
I WILL sell my property on King, West and Cameron streets, being one acre, or half a square, in fee simple, fronting one hundred and twenty-three feet five inches
on King street, the same on Cameron street and three hundred and fifty three feet and two inches on West street. There are exposed on said premises, an excellent two story brick dwelling house on West street, with smoke house, stable, carriage house, and every convenience suitable for the accommodation of a respectable family. A large two story brick warehouse, corner of King and West streets, now in the occupation of Thomas Swann, Jr. and another brick warehouse, with dwelling attached, fronting on King street, occupied by George Kincaid.
These warehouses are built of the best materials, not surpassed by any in town.—
Two brick dwelling houses, fronting on King street, with sufficient room for the execution of other buildings, having every accommodation for families—and a large lot on West and Cameron streets, sufficiently large for the erection of fifteen respectable tenements.
This is a most desirable property for any man of fortune who wishes to improve it,
or receive a good interest for his money,
and offers advantages equal if not superior to any situation in the town of Alexandria.
Likewise, two frame dwelling houses,
fronting on King street, adjoining the warehouse occupied by George Kincaid. This property is subject to a small ground rent of thirty dollars and forty one cents per annum.
Also, a lot of ground, in fee simple, containing ten and three quarter acres, two miles from town, on the old Leesburg road, near the property of Wm. Robinson, Esq.
This lot is beautifully situated, having a fine view of Alexandria and of the Potomac
—is well taken with clover, and is capable of the highest improvement.
The above property will be sold together,
or in part, and a liberal credit given to suit
purchasers. JAMES SANDERSON.

Clermont for Sale.
THE subscriber offers for sale this well known and valuable estate, in the vicinity of Alexandria, being distant not more than three miles, commanding a view of the town and of the valley through which the Cameron creek meanders. The domain consists of 380 acres, a large portion of which is bottom land, highly susceptible of improvement; its buildings consist of a large dwelling house containing 12 comfortable apartments and 8 fire places, and of such other buildings
as are necessary for the accommodation of a farmer. This estate will be sold altogether or divided to suit purchasers.
One third of the purchase money will be required in hand, and the remainder in equal payments of 9 and 15 months.
